

Roses of the Central Experimental Farm – May 4, 2011

The Greely Gardeners Group was delighted to have Edythe Falconer speak to us on the subject of Roses, specifically the Roses of the Central Exeperimental Farm which flourish right here in Ottawa.

Master Gardener Edythe Falconer discussed how to grow roses in Ottawa gardens: the types of roses and their characteristics; choosing the right roses for your garden; soil preparation; conditions required for healthy growth; and ongoing maintenance.

Edythe's presentation was thoroughly enjoyed by all members present, and she continued to share her expertise with the group when she met us for a guided tour of the Central Experimental Farm Roses Gardens during our 2011 Field Trip in June.
